

Liability for content

The contents of our pages were created with great care. However, we can not guarantee the correctness, completeness and actuality of the contents. As a service provider, we are responsible for our own content on these pages according to the general laws according to § 7 Abs.1 TMG. According to §§ 8 to 10 TMG, however, we as service providers are not obliged to monitor transmitted or stored third-party information or to investigate circumstances which indicate an illegal activity. Obligations to remove or block the use of information according to general laws remain unaffected. Liability in this respect, however, is only possible from the time of knowledge of a concrete infringement. If we become aware of any legal infringements, we will remove these contents immediately.

Liability for links

Our offer contains links to external websites of third parties on whose content we have no influence. Therefore, we can not assume any liability for these third-party contents. For the content of linked pages

The respective provider or operator of the pages is always responsible. The linked pages were checked for possible legal violations at the time of linking. Illegal contents were not recognizable at the time of linking. However, a permanent control of the content of the linked pages is not reasonable without concrete indications of an infringement. If we become aware of legal violations, we will immediately remove such links.

Copyright

The content and works created by the site operators on these pages are subject to German copyright law. The copying, processing, distribution and any kind of exploitation outside the limits of copyright require the written consent of the respective author or creator. Downloads and copies of this page are only permitted for private, non-commercial use. Insofar as the contents on this page were not created by the operator, the copyrights of third parties are respected. In particular contents of third parties are marked as such. If you are nevertheless aware of a copyright infringement, we ask for a corresponding note. If we become aware of legal violations, we will immediately remove such content.

Data protection

The use of our website is normally possible without giving personal data. If personal data (eg name, address or e-mail addresses) are collected on our pages, this is always done on a voluntary basis as far as possible. These data will not be passed on to third parties without your express consent. We would like to point out that the transmission of data on the Internet (for example, by e-mail communication) may present security gaps. A complete protection of the data before access by third parties is not possible. The use of contact data published within the scope of the imprint obligation by third parties for the transmission of not expressly requested advertising and information material is hereby expressly rejected. The operators of the pages expressly reserve the right to take legal steps in the event of the unsolicited sending of advertising information, for example by spam mail.

Access data / server log files

The provider (or his webspace provider) collects data about every access to the offer (So-called server log files). The access data include the name of the retrieved web page, the date and time of the retrieval, the amount of data transferred, the successful retrieval message, the browser type, the user's operating system, the referrer URL, the IP address, and the requesting URL Provider. The provider uses the log data only for statistical evaluations for the purpose of operation, security and optimization of the offer. However, the provider reserves the right to check the log data at a later date if there is reason to suspect illegal use due to specific reasons.

Handling of personal data

Personal data is information with the help of which a person can be identified, ie information which can be traced back to a person. This includes the name, email address or telephone number. But data on preferences, hobbies, memberships, or which websites have been viewed by someone are also personal data. Personal data are collected, used and passed on by the provider only if this is legally permitted or if the users consent to the data collection.

Newsletters

With the newsletter we inform you about us and our offers. If you would like to receive the newsletter, we require you a valid e-mail address as well as information that will allow us to verify that you are the owner of the e-mail address or that you accept the receipt of the newsletter . Further data is not collected. This data is only used for sending the newsletter and will not be passed on to third parties. By registering for the newsletter, we store your IP address and the date of the registration. This storage serves solely as evidence in the event that a third party misuses an e-mail address and logs on to the recipient of the newsletter without the knowledge of the beneficiary. You may revoke your consent to the storage of the data, the e-mail address as well as their use for sending the newsletters at any time. The revocation can be made via a link in the newsletters themselves, in your profile area or by notifying the above contact possibilities.

Integration of third-party services and content

It is possible that third party contents, such as videos from YouTube, Google Maps map material, RSS feeds or graphics from other websites, may be included within this website. This always assumes that the providers of these contents (hereinafter referred to as "third-party providers") perceive the IP address of the users. Without the IP address, they could not send the content to the user's browser. The IP address is therefore required for the display of these contents. We only make use of such content, whose respective providers use the IP address only for the delivery of the content. However, we will not affect if the third-party vendor uses the IP address, e.g. For statistical purposes. As far as we know, we will inform the users about it.

Cookies

Cookies are small files that allow you to store specific information related to the device on the user's access point (PC, smartphone, etc.). They serve on the one hand the user friendliness of web pages and thus the users (for example logging of logindates). On the other hand they are used to record the statistical data of the website and to be able to analyze them for the purpose of improving the offer. Users can influence the use of cookies. Most browsers have an option to restrict or prevent cookies from being stored. However, it should be noted that the use and, in particular, the use of the services without cookies is restricted.

Data protection for the use of Facebook plugins (like button)

On our pages are plugins of the social network Facebook, 1601 South California Avenue, Palo Alto, CA 94304, USA, integrated. You can recognize the Facebook plugins on the Facebook logo or the "Like" button on our site. An overview of the Facebook plugins can be found here: <http://developers.facebook.com/docs/plugins>.

When you visit our pages, the plug-in is used to establish a direct connection between your browser and the Facebook server. This gives Facebook the information that you have visited our site with your IP address. If you click the Facebook Like button while you are logged into your Facebook account, you can link the content of our pages to your Facebook profile. This allows Facebook to associate the visit of our pages with your user account. We would like to point out that as a provider of the pages we do not receive any knowledge of the content of the transmitted data as well as their use by Facebook. For more information, see facebook's privacy policy at <http://facebook.com/policy.php>.

If you do not want Facebook to associate the visit of our sites with your Facebook user account, please log out of your Facebook user account.

Privacy Policy for using Google +1

Capture and share information: The Google + 1 button lets you publish information worldwide. The Google + 1 button gives you and other users personalized content from Google and our partners. Google stores both the information that you have given +1 for a content, as well as information about the page that you viewed when you clicked +1. Your +1 can be displayed as clues along with your profile name and photo in Google services, such as search results, your Google profile, or elsewhere on Web sites and ads on the Internet. Google records information about your + 1 activities to improve Google services for you and others. To use the Google + 1 button, you need a globally visible, public Google profile, which must contain at least the name chosen for the profile. This name is used in all Google services. In some cases, this name can also replace a different name that you used when sharing content through your Google Account. The identity of your Google profile can be displayed to users who know your e-mail address or have other identifying information from you. Use of the information collected: In addition to the uses outlined above, the information you provide will be

Twitter

This offer uses buttons of the service Twitter. These buttons are offered by the Twitter Inc., 795 Folsom St., Suite 600, San Francisco, CA 94107, USA. They are recognizable by terms such as "Twitter" or "episode", linked to a silted blue bird. With the help of the buttons it is possible to share a post or page of this offer at Twitter or to follow the provider at Twitter.

When a user browses a webpage with this button, his browser connects directly to Twitter's servers. The content of the Twitter buttons is transmitted directly from Twitter to the user's browser. The provider has therefore no influence on the extent of the data that Twitter collects with the help of this plugin and informs the users according to his knowledge. According to this, only the IP address of the user is transmitted with the URL of the respective web page when the button is drawn, but not for purposes other than the representation of the button. For more information, see Twitter's privacy policy at <http://twitter.com/privacy>.
